

118 N. Jackson St., Arlington, VA 22201 | everydaypeaceindicators.org | info@everydaypeaceindicators.org | +1.612.245.1128

EPI Transitional Justice Internship

About Everyday Peace Indicators (EPI):

Everyday Peace Indicators (EPI) is a dynamic organization dedicated to promoting peace at the grassroots level. We believe in the power of communities to foster positive social change and contribute to lasting peace. Through our innovative approaches and research, we aim to redefine how peace is understood and measured, focusing on everyday experiences and interactions.

Position Overview:

Join Everyday Peace Indicators (EPI) in our mission to advance peace and justice in Colombia as a Transitional Justice Intern. This position offers a unique opportunity to contribute to groundbreaking research, data analysis, and dissemination efforts focused on everyday justice and transitional justice in Colombia.

Responsibilities:

- Assist with cleaning and analyzing data collected by the EPI team on everyday justice and transitional justice in Colombia.
- Contribute to coding everyday justice and transitional justice indicators.
- Participate in constructing visualizations of collected data to facilitate understanding and dissemination.
- Attend planning and follow-up meetings to ensure coordination and progress.
- Write analytical documents based on project data for internal and external use.
- Construct informative notes for the website on topics related to transitional justice in Colombia.

Qualifications:

- Bachelor's degree in sociology, political science, international relations, history, or related fields.
- Strong interest in transitional justice, peace studies, and Latin-American studies.
- Proficiency in both English and Spanish. Please note this internship requires professional proficiency in Spanish
- Advanced skills in Excel or R

Duration and Schedule:

EVERYDAY PEACE INDICATORS

118 N. Jackson St., Arlington, VA 22201 | everydaypeaceindicators.org | info@everydaypeaceindicators.org | +1.612.245.1128

This internship is a part-time position, requiring approximately 15 hours per week. The duration of the internship is June 1st – October 10th, with the possibility of extension based on performance and organizational needs. The schedule is flexible and can be tailored to accommodate the intern's availability.

Learning Outcomes:

- Gain experience in an international NGO dedicated to peacebuilding.
- Acquire research skills using innovative and participatory methodologies.
- Strengthen data analysis skills.
- Interact with an interdisciplinary and international team.
- Develop a deep understanding of local peacebuilding contexts in Colombia.
- Potential opportunities to contribute to scientific articles.
- Possibilities to write informative notes for the EPI website.
- Potential participation in conferences, workshops, and mentorship programs.

To apply for this internship, please submit your resume and a cover letter outlining your relevant experience, skills, and motivation for joining EPI as a Transitional Justice Intern. Applications should be sent to info@everydaypeaceindicators.org with the subject line "Transitional Justice Intern Application - [Your Name]."

Note: This internship may be eligible for academic credit or fulfill internship requirements for students enrolled in relevant programs. Please inquire with your academic institution for more information.

We look forward to receiving your application and welcoming you to the EPI team!